Description

Description for Anemone (Mix Color)

Anemone is perennial that have basal leaves with long leaf-stems that can be upright or prostrate. Leaves are simple or compound with lobed, parted, or undivided leaf blades. The leaf margins are toothed or entire. Flowers with 4 to 27 sepals are produced singly, in cymes of 2 to 9 flowers, or in umbels, above a cluster of leaf or sepal-like bracts.

Common name	Flower colours	Bloom time	Height	Difficulty
Anemone, windflowers	Anemones are available in a wide range of colours.	Spring and summer	Up to 2 to 3 feet	Medium to grow

Planting and care

Soak your anemone bulbs for 2-4 hours in a cup or small bowl of water. This will encourage them to sprout faster and get growing.

Sunlight	Soil	Water	Temperature	Fertilizer
Full Sun	Sandy, well-drained soil	Keep soil moist throughout the growing season.	An ideal temperature is 68 degrees F (20 degrees C).	Apply any organic fertilizer.

Caring for Anemone

- Plant them with the pointed end up, about 2 inches deep and 3 inches apart, in full sun.
- Water them in thoroughly, but avoid letting water stand in puddles.
