Description

Description for Barleria Montana, Dongari Koranti , Barleria (Purple)

Mountain Barleria is an erect herb found in the mountains of Western Ghats. Leaves are oblong-elliptic, attenuated into the leaf-stalk. Leaves may be a little bristly on the margin. Beautiful rose-purple flowers appear singly in leaf axils. Flower tube is very long, with the throat conically dilated into the flower limb with 5 petals. Bracteoles are linear. Larger sepals are equal, elliptic.

Common name	Flower colours	Bloom time	Height	Difficulty mountain barleria, dongari koranti, kolista.	Purple	September-October.	24-36 in	easy to grow

Planting and care

Plant bulbs 1½ to 5 times their own depth. Where winters are severe, make sure there is at least 3 inches of soil covering the bulb.

Sunlight	Soil	Water	Temperature	Fertilizer
