Bloom time: Early Summer to Late Summer

Height: 20-30 feet.

Difficulty level: Easy.

Planting & Care

A week to 10 days before planting, add 2 to 4 inches of aged manure or compost and work into the planting site to improve fertility and increase water retention and drainage. If soil composition is weak, a layer of topsoil should be considered as well. No matter if your soil is sand or clay, it can be improved by adding the same thing: organic matter. The more, the better; work deep into the soil. Prepare beds to an 18 inch deep for perennials. This will seem like a tremendous amount of work now, but will greatly pay off later. Besides, this is not something that is easily done later, once plants have been established.

Sunlight: It can survive full sun, partial shade, or full shade.

Soil: well-drained soil.

Water: Requires consistently moist soil; do not let dry out between waterings

Temperature: Minimum 30-40 degrees F
