Description

Description for Rucola Cultivated, Rocket Cultivated

Rocket Salad is an annual salad plant that has leaves similar in taste and appearance to its relative, the radish (Raphanus sativus).

Common name(s): Eruca vesicaria subsp. sativa

Flower colours: -

Bloom time: Summer

Max reachable height: 6 - 12 in.

Difficulty to grow: easy to grow

Planting and care

Place the seedling plug in the hole and firm gently around the roots, water well. Crop care: Keep soil moist at all times for best flavoured leaves and to prevent plants from bolting (running to seed). Seed can also be sown in pots on the windowsill for all the year round harvesting of fresh leaves.

Sunlight: Full Sun to Partial Shade

Soil: well-drained soil

Water: Medium

Temperature: 40 and 65 degrees,

Fertilizer: Apply any organic fertilizer

Caring for Rucola Cultivated

- Weed around plants frequently.
- Plants thrive in cool weather.
- Plant crops for spring and fall.
- For a continuous harvest during this period, plant succession crops.
- Arugula will withstand light frosts. It likes full sun, but will tolerate partial shade.
- For best results, grow Arugula or Rocket, quickly during cool weather, in moist, fertile soil.

Harvesting

Simply pick the young leaves and the plant will keep generating new ones for months. Older leaves are a bit tougher and hotter.

Pick over the whole row rather than just one or two plants as this would weaken them.

As the flower buds appear pinch them out to prolong cropping.

The flowers are small, white with dark centers and can be used in the salad for a light piquant flavour.

Rocket is ready to harvest in 40 days.

Typical uses of Rucola Cultivated

Special features: Arugula, also called Rocket, is a leafy green vegetable, like lettuce and spinach. Native to the Mediterranean and Asia, Rocket is a member of the mustard family. Like other leaf crops, growing Arugula in cool weather is best.
