Description Cliff Date Palm is a very graceful palm native to India, and it thrives among the rocks and cliffs in the Himalayan Mountains. The cliff date palm, growing to only about 20 ft tall, is smaller than many other common palms. It is a tree with a cleaner appearance as the trunk is clean, not retaining the old leaf bases like other date species.

Common name: Cliff Date Palm, East Indian wine palm, Indian date palm, Wild date palm

Color: bright green

Bloom time: April-May

Height: 20 ft

Difficulty level: easy to grow

Planting & Care

Place 2 or 3 seeds in 7cm (3") pots of seed compost, giving enough water to make the mixture barely moist. Cover the pot with clear plastic wrap. Place the pots in bright light at a temperature of 18 to 21°C (65 to 70°F). Water enough to keep soil from drying out completely.

Sunlight: Full Sun to Partial Shade

Soil: well-drained soil

Water: Medium

Temperature: -3 Degrees C.

Fertilizer: Apply any organic fertilizer

Care:

- Potting soil used for palm plants should be well draining, and any container used for the plant should have ample drainage holes in the bottom.
- Soil should be moist at all times during the growing season, although it is essential to avoid over-saturation, which can lead to root rot.

Care:

- Seeds may also be placed in hot water and soaked overnight.
- Place seeds in a moist soil medium, cover with a light sprinkle of soil and place in a warm, bright location.
- Seeds generally take about a week to germinate, according to Guide to Houseplants.

Special Feature:

Flowers are small, creamy yellow, in large clusters, male and female on separate trees
Use

Note:

No serious insect or disease problems.
