Planting & Care

Potting soil used for palm plants should be well draining, and any container used for the plant should have ample drainage holes in the bottom. Soil should be moist at all times during the growing season, although it is essential to avoid over-saturation, which can lead to root rot.

Sunlight: Full Sun

Soil: well-drained soil

Water: Medium

Temperature: 32°F

Fertilizer: Apply any organic fertilizer

Care:

- Chinese fan palms (Livistona chinensis) are very popular in the Florida landscape but also make an excellent indoor plant for a sunny room.
- This neat palm is slow growing and has a single, upright trunk and large leaves that can reach up to 6 feet in length

Care:

- Allow the plant soil to dry out a little more in the winter than in the summer.
- A daily mist of water helps to keep humidity levels high.
- If frond tips become brown, the humidity is too low.
- A light fertilizer application from late winter through early fall helps fan palm plants remain vital.
