Caring for Rondeletia Leucophylla

If it drops lots of leaves during winter, that is generally a sign of root problems. Grow Rondeletia leucophylla in a large, clay pot instead of in the ground if it develops those problems. Cut back a Rondeletia leucophylla by two-thirds in late spring after it finishes blooming. Don't prune Rondeletia leucophylla after midsummer because that is when it begins making buds for winter.
