

Ruffled latan palm. - Plant

The Ruffled Fan Palm Tree, scientific name Licuala grandis, is an exotic fan palm that is well-known for its stunning dark-green ruffled leaves.

Rating: Not Rated Yet

Price

Sales price R 592

Discount

Ask a question about this product

Description

Description for Ruffled latan palm.

It has a single slender trunk, 4-5 inches in diameter that takes years to develop. The Ruffled Fan Palm is known for its unique palmate, or fan-shape leaves, with attractive splitting patterns that make it stand out in any environment. Leaves are circular, luscious green, glossy, ruffled, hence the name Ruffled Fan Palm, about 22 inches in diameter, with notched tips. The inflorescence emerges from among the leaves bearing bisexual flowers, male and female reproductive organs grow on the same flower. Ruffled Fan Palm produces marble-like green fruit that turns red when ripe. This berry looking fruit is round with a single seed inside.

Common name	Flower colours	Bloom time	Height	Difficulty
Vanuatu Fan Palm, Palas Palm	-	-	5-10 feet.	Easy to grow.

Planting and care

Sunlight	Soil	Water	Temperature	Fertilizer
Partial shade. It grows best in partial shade and should not be exposed to full sun.	Well-drained soil.	It needs a lot of water with good drainage.	It can tolerate cold down to 30F when mature enough. It is great for growing in USDA Zones 10a (30 to 35 F) to 11 (above 40 F).	Apply good quality palm fertilizer that has continues release formula twice a year during growing season.

Caring for Ruffled latan palm.

Make sure to protect it from high winds to avoid frond damage.

Typical uses of Ruffled latan palm.

Special features:

Ornamental use: This elegant palm tree is great for small yards and can also grow indoors in the container.

References

<http://www.florida-palm-trees.com/ruffled-fan-palm-tree/>