Description for Tecoma (Shrub, Orange)

Plant height: 9 - 15 inches

Plant spread:

Tecomaria capensis is an ornamental garden plant commonly used for screening and decorative purposes. It can also be trimmed to form a hedge. It is often planted specifically to attract birds and butterflies. Dark orange color of these plants sometimes appear to be red because of environmental and sunlight factors.

Common name(s): Tecoma (Shrub, Orange), Cape Honeysuckle, Bignoniaceae, yellow trumpetbush, yellow bells, yellow elder, ginger thomas.

Flower colours: Orange to dark orange

Bloom time: Early summer

Max reachable height: 8 to 10 feet

Difficulty to grow: Easy to grow

Planting and care

Prepare soil for desert-adapted plants. Plant from transplant in spring. If planted in native soil without amendments, you will find it more tolerant of infrequent waterings. Those planted in richer soil would prefer more water. This upright shrub will grow up to 12 feet tall and spread up to 8 feet wide.

Sunlight: Full Sun

Soil: Well-drained soil

Water: Medium

Temperature: 20 to 30 degrees C

Fertilizer: Apply any organic fertilizer

Caring for Tecoma

- Orange Jubilee is outstanding grown as a single specimen or harmonious when grown with other water-saving plants to create a mini, subtropical oasis.
- As a screen to cover a drab block wall or shade a west-facing window, or as a focal point to add drama, this plant will not disappoint.

Typical uses of Tecoma

Special features:

Culinary use: Leaves

Ornamental use: The plant is used for ornamental purpose

Medicinal use: Relieve pain
